CUPID'S WORK.

The "pairing" season has come again, and the victims of Cupid's summer campaign are marching off by twos to begin that career of happiness which looks so bright to all who start in the race, and which-thanks to the goodness of au allwise Providence-brings sweet peace and content to so great a proportion of human-

ity. Weddings, though as old as the race itself, will never lose their novelty to the sons and daughters of men, especially the daughters, for who is there that can be churlish enough not to feel a little thrill of satisfaction when witnessing the simple but important ceremonies that serve to unite two lives in one?

It is not strange, therefore, that the nuptial ceremonies celebrated at Stapp's Chapel last evening called out so large an audience, the occasion being the marriage of Mr. Oliver H. McBride, of Danville Ill., and Miss Anna Bowers, eldest daughter of William Bowers, Esq., of this city. The bridegroom resided here from his boyhood until quite recently, and the bride is one of our best known and most highly esteemed young ladies. The church was handsomely decorated with vases filled with rare plants and flowers. The guests invited to withese the ceremony were seated by the ushers, Messrs. M. D. Bartholomew, B. K. Durfee, Chas. A. Ewing and W. C. Johns, and before the arrival of the bridal party the church was about twothirds full. The arrival of the parties to whom the ceremony bore the most significance was the signal for an organ volun tary, by Mr. Geo. F. Wessels, and as the charming toffes pealed forth in joyous barmony the ushers, the attendants, Mr. M. B. Thomas and Miss Luciba Jones, Mr. Oeo P. Zeiss and Miss Nettie Bowers, and the bride and groots marched up the center aisle and took their places at the altar. The marriage ceremony was proceeded with at once, Roy. Dr. Stevenson officia ting, and was unusually brief and simple At its conclusion the bridal party withdrew, and proceeded at once to the residence of the bride's parents, where they received the congratulations of a very large number of friends. The spacious house was filled to its utmost capacity, and the guests seemed to enjoy to the fullest extent the well-directed efforts of the host and hosters to make the affair pass off pleas-

The bridal presents were numerous and costly, and attracted much attention,-Among them were a very handsome Weber piano, the gift of the bride's mother; an oblong piece of paper with the figures '100" in one corner, and the crooked autograph of Gen. Spinner in another-the gift of the bride's father; a handsome set of jewelry from Miss Nettie Bowers, sister of the bride; a splendid gold watch and chain from the bridegroom; a neat and costly silver water set from Mr. Edmund McBride, the brother of the bridegroom; handsome silver tea service and bible rom the members of Stapp's Chapel. In addition to these from the more immediate friends of the bride and groom, there were also handsome presents from Trenton, N. J., Wichita and Topeka, Kan., Springfield and Danville. Also, the following from Decatur friends: a handsome China tea set; bronzed center stand; one dozen silver knives, carver and steel; bronzed clock; silver fruit dish; silver cake stands vases and card stand; two elegant copies of Shakspeare; gold-headed cane; silver epergne; to let sets; folding chess stand; silver salts; perfumery, table linen and ing all the schools in the city, at the First

The crowd assembled at the grove between 10 and 11 oclocks when the picnic was opened by singing and prayer by Rev. Mr. Orcut. Addresses were delivered in the forenoon by Elder N. S. Haynes, of this city, and the Rev.

Mr. Bandoe, of Stonington. Next followed the dinner, which was one of the best, all the delicacies of the season being spread out before the hungry crowd of one thousand that was pres ent. To use a favorite expression of Maj. Miller, "the tables fairly groaned" with the load of delicacies heaped upon them. After dinner addresses were delivered by Mr. Orcut and old John Fletcher, the last of which was rich, rare and racy. All present enjoyed themselves in various ways. There were swings and other attractions for the young folks, while the old folks kept busy at hand-shaking and

Shortly after the crowd had been dis missed a lot of "smart slecks," well charged with 'benzine,' went into the grove apparently for the express purpose of making an exhibition of their vandalism. Each one seemed to make it his special province to break up and destroy everything that came in his reach. This meh of drunken miscreants broke up all the lumber used for seats, and literally destroyed all the swings, and all else they could get hold of. Such vandalism should not be allowed to go unpunished. The offenders should be arrested and fined heavily, besides havingto pay the worth if all they destroyed.

JEMPERANCE MEETING.

A temperance address will be delivered it the court house this evening by Mr. G. W. Watson, who comes highly recommended as an able and eloquent speaker.-Let him have a full bouse.

Religious Notice - J. R. Gorin. Esq., is advised by letter from Rev. W. N. McElroy, that Rev. W. H. Reed, one of the members of the Illinois Annual Conference, now in session at Mattoon, will occupy the pulpit of the First M. E. Church on Sunday next, both morning and evening. Mr. Reed is a prominent man in the conference, and is spoken of as a very able and cloquent preacher. He wil doubtless draw a crowded bouse.

Will White's Rat Pit .- This morning three rats were put in the pit. Newell & Hammer matched their dog, "Dick;" Doctor Hostetler bet on his dog, "Jim;" and Colonel Jack "antied" his surplus wealth on his cat, "Tom," against them. The first rat was picked up by "Dick" and dropped, and "Jim" finished him; the second, "Jim" made into mince-meat; the third, "Dick" gobbled, and "Jim," not seeing any chance for himself, went for the cat. The umpire decided it a foul, and ruled out both dogs an I the cat. The staked money is still up.

MADAME DAVIS OUT. She is Taken from Japl to Attend a Civil Suit.

Yesterday Madame Davis was taken out of the county jail and escorted to Justice Hughes' office by Sheriff Jennings, to answer to a summons from the Justice to appear before him in a case instituted by Thomas Lee, Esq., for the fees of a lawsuit he conducted for her at the last term of the circuit court. :

Harry Holmes, agent for Madam Davis, claimed that she did not owe Lee anything, and that he had naid ali.

Lee's statement was exactly contradicthat the Madame owed the whole fee promised—about $200.

Edwin Park, Esq., was employed by the defendant as her counsel, but his efefforts to gain the case were useless.

Buckingham appeared for the plaintiff, an, as usual, made a good speech, in the ourse of which he spoke rath plain, and hinted that the defendant kept a lewd house, and that the "Grand Duke" was a frequenter thereof. This served to arouse the ire of both, and the Madame furiously grappled an inkstand, drew it back, and vowed she woule make 'Buck' prove she kept a - house. Holmes stood up, blowed a good deal, and wanted to 'lich' the lawyer. Finding that remoustrance would do nothing toward cooling down the anger of the parties, the Justice assested a fine of $5 and costs to the offenders. This had the desired effect, and Buckingham was allowed to finish his speech with out interruption. At its conclusion the Justice rendered his decision, giving the complainant a judgment for $150.

THE OLD "REBEL YELL."

Here is the way that some of the exrebels of St. Louis "sympathize" with Louisiana. These extracts are from the speech of Alex J. P Garosoho, at the mass meeting Tuesday evening :

government that the President may force upon an unwilling people"

"I say in that struggle—if the Pres ident dare interfere I say, 'let slip the dogs of war" and "damned be he who first crics hold, "enough!" [Cheers].
"I say lot Grant provoke the contest.

I think I know the people of Louisiana, and if I do not know them, if I am mistaken in them, they are not deserving of our sympathy, but I say let Grant send his regiments, let him expose the Texas frontier to the attack of the Indians, and send 10,000 troops there and 10,000 troops cannot stay the arm of the people of Louisiana.

[Cheers.]

'the flay let overy man in this crowd sweet as i am willing to sweet, that all my aid will be given to protect the people of Louisiana, and uphold them in this strugglo which they will maintain against the authorities, and against the government of the United States.'

"I hope they will proclaim that death it may be , but dishonor it never shall bo; and if the President sends his minions, and let the President's minions beware, for they may be damned.'. At the close of this frothing fool's speech, the chairman, Gon. W. F. Shields, adjourned the meeting with Moloro I aunounce the adjournment

Emery, commanding the Department of the Gulf, a dispatch conveying the the State. The expiration of the five information that the insurgents had days named in the proclamation had surrendered the State property and dis-banded their forces in accordance with view of events which might intervene he commands of the President's proclamation. The dispatch was taken at once to the President, who expressed entire satisfaction at the details as communicated to him.

The Adjutant General immediately elegraphed the result to the Secretary of War at Columbus, Ohio. By direction of the President orders were at once telegraphed to the general commanding the Division of the Atlantic to suspend for the present all movement of troops toward Louisiana Similar orders were telegraphed to General McDowell, commanding the Division of the South, and to Admiral Mullaney, at Key West, countermanding the order for vessels of war to proceed to New Orleans. Dispatches have elso been sent to several of the most prominent insurgent leaders, to the The war is over as shown by the followeffect that good faith and prompt acquiescence on their part with the terms of the President's proclamation will prove a great help to the people of Louisiana in their desire to rectify many matters of which they complain. At 6 p. m., in accordance with the triangement previously made, Gen. J. R. Brooke, accompanied by Lieutenants Wallace and Rea, went to the executive office at the St. Louis hotel .-Immediately upon the entrance of Gen. Breoke, Governors McEncry and Penn shaking hands with him, introduced the three Federal officers to a number of prominent citizens present Gov. McEnery then stated to Gen. Brooke that he gave him possession of the State Cipitol and all other State buildings within the limits of the city.

Gen. Brooke merely bowed in acceptance, and the Governor read to him the following address . GEN. BROOKE-As the lawful and acting Governor of this State, I surrender to you, as the representative of the government of the United States, the Capitol and the remainder of the propcrty of the city belonging to the State.

This surrender is in response to a for-ment by the military forces of the Unit ed States under his command. As have already said to Gen. Emery, we have neither the power nor the inclina-tion to cell that Covernment of the United States. Sir, I transfer to you the guardianship of the rights and liberties of the people of the State, and trust and believe you will give protec tion to all classes of our citizens, ruled and rained by corrupt usurpation, presided over by Kellogg. Our reople could bear the wrongs of tyranny, annoyance and insults of that usurpation

CUPID'S WORK.

Two Souls with but a Single Thought—Two Hearts that Beat as One!

The "pairing" season has come again, and the victims of Cupid's summer campaign are marching off by twos to begin that career of happiness which looks so bright to all who start in the race, and which-thanks to the goodness of an allwise l'rovidence-brings aweet peace and content to so great a proportion of humanity. Weddings, though as old as the race tself, will never lose their novelty to the sons and daughters of men, especially the daughters, for who is there that can be churlish enough not to feel a little thrill of satisfaction when witnessing the simple but important ceremonies that serve to unite two lives in one?

It is not strange, therefore, that the nuptial ceremonies celebrated at Stapp's Chapel last evening called out so large an audience, the occasion being the marriage of Mr. Oliver H. McBride, of Danville Ill., and Miss Anna Bowers, eldest daughter of William Bowers, Esq., of this city The bridegroom resided here from his boy hood until quite recently, and the bride is one of our best known and most highly esteemed young ladies. The church was handsomely decorated with vases filled with rare plants and flowers. The guests invited to withess the ceremony were seated by the ushers, Messrs. M. D. Bartholomew, B. K. Durfee, Chas. A. Ewing and W. C. Johns, and before the arrival of the bridal party the church was about twothirds full. The arrival of the parties to whom the ceremony bore the most significance was the signal for an organ volun-

mony the ushers, the attendants, Mr. M. B. Thomas and Miss Lucha Jones, Mr. Geo P. Zeiss and Miss Nettie Bowers, and the bride and grootn marched up the conter aisle and took their places at the altar. The marriage ceremony was proceeded with at once, Rev. Dr. Stevenson officia ting, and was unusually brief and simple. At its conclusion the bridal party withdrew, and proceeded at once to the residence of the bride's parents, where they received the congratulations of a very large number of friends. The spacious house was filled to its utmost capacity, and the guests seemed to enjoy to the fullest extent the well-directed efforts of the host and bostess to make the affair pass off pleas-costly, and attracted much attention .-Among them were a very handsome Weber piano, the gift of the bride's mother; an oblong piece of paper with the figures "100" in one corner, and the crooked autograph of Gen. Spinner in another—the gift of the bride's father; a handsome set f jewelry from Miss Nettie Bowers, sister of the bride; a splendid gold watch and chain from the bridegroom; a neat and costly silver water set from Mr. Edmund McBride, the brother of the bridegroom; a handsome silver tea service and bible from the members of Stapp's Chapel. In addition to these from the more immediate friends of the bride and groom, there were also handsome presents from Trenton, N. J., Wichita and Topeka, Kan., Springfield Decatur friends: a bandsome China tea set; bronzed center stand; one dozen silver knives, carver and steel; bronzed clock; silver fruit dish; silver cake stands; vases and card stand; two elegant copies of Shakspeare; gold-headed cane; silver epergne; to let sets; folding chess stand;

The supper served on the occasion was ident of the State Sunday School Associaas faultless as the other accessories of the tion, Mr. Jacobs, another prominent Sunwedding, and was highly enjoyed by all present. Among the guests from a distance were meeting will be one of unusual interest, Mrs. William Hunt, Trenton, N. J., Mrs. and should be attended by all our people, A. W. Oliver, Wichita, Kan., Mr. and who are interested in the Sunday School Mrs. J. H. Vennigerholtz, Galveston, Texas, Mrs. J. F. Miller, Clinton, Mr. Wm.

During the evening Prof. Goodman's fine band tendered the party a splendid serenade, which added greatly to the enjoyment of all present. At an early hour the guests departed, and the bride and groom embarked on the eastward bound train at 11 o'clock, for a trip to Cincinnati and other points in Ohio.

UNION SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC.

A union Sunday School picnic was held yesterday in a beautiful gove two miles north of Blue Mound. The Blue Mound, Randallville, Pleasant View and Bethel Sunday Schools all tinited for a grand union picule. The crowd assembled at the grove between 10 and 11 o'clock when the picnic was opened by singing and prayer by Rev. Mr. Orent. Addresses. were delivered in the 'forenoon' by Elder N. S. Haynes, of this city, and the Rev.

Mr. Bandoe, of Stonington. Next followed the dinner, which was one of the best, all the delicacies of the season being spread out before the hungry crowd of one thousand that was pres ent. To use a favorite expression of Maj. Miller, "the tables fairly groaned" with the load of delicacies heaped upon them.

After dinner addresses were delivered by Mr. Orcut and old John Fletcher, the last of which was rich, rare and racy. All present enjoyed themselves in various ways. There were swings and other attractions for the young folks, while the old folks kept busy at hand-shaking and greeting friends, whom they had not met Shortly after the crowd had been dis missed a lot of "smart alecks," well charged with 'benzine,' went, into the grove apparently for the express purpose of making an exhibition of their vandalism. Each one seemed to make it his special province to break up and destroy everything that came in his reach. This meb of drunken miscreants broke up all the lumber used for seats, and literally destroyed all the swings, and all else they could get hold of, Such vandalism should tary, by Mr. Geo. F. Wessels, and as the not be allowed to go unpunished. The flenders should be arrested and fined chatming tolies pealed forth in Joyous burheavily, besides havingto pay the worth of all they destroyed.

Mr. Reed is a prominent man in the conference, and is spoken of as a very able and elequent preacher. He wil doubtless draw a crowded house.

Will White's Rat Pit .- This morn ing three rats were put in the pit. Newell & Hammer matched their dog, 'Dick; and Colonel Jack "antied" his surplus wealth on his cat, "Tom," against them. The first rat was picked up by "Dick" and dropped, and "Jim" finished him; the second, "Jim" made into mince-meat; the third, "Dick" gobbled, and "Jim," not seeing any chance for himself, went for the cat. The umpire decided it a foul, and ruled out both dogs an I the cat. The staked money is still up.

A Criminal Offence.- A day or two ago a "hay-binder" walking along on he railroad track, saw a red flag which had dropped from some freight train, and, thinking that it would look nice waving in the breezes, stuck it up in the middle of the track. As all know, the red flag is a signal for "danger ahead," and an engineer perceiving this flag in the road would do everything he could to stop his train immediately, and perhaps strain or materially damage his engine in the attempt before any train passed, pickd up the flag and brought it to the city.

The countryman was likely not aware of what he had done, and we doubt not that, had he known he was committing a penitentiary offence, he would have left the flag where he found it.

A Wonderful Horse.-The Laux Bros, own a wonderful horse, of which many strange and incredible stories have been told. The following, however, is told as the truth: The horse was left at the depot one noon with no one to drive him up town. He looked around the platform and when he saw there was no baggage to be hauled up, he started and trotted up town without striking an obstacle. Arriving at the hotel, be backed up the wagon and waited until the baggage was taken out, when he made for the stable and left

A SERENADE.

"Music, oh, how faint, how weak, Language fades before the spell, Why should feeling ever speak, When thou cause breaking her scaled w Friendship's balmy winds may feign, Loves are even more false than they, Ch, 'tis only music's strain, Can sweetly soothe and not betray."

Music, such as is described in the fore going lines, is worthy of the highest praise, and is always welcome, but such music differs widely from that furnished last eve ing to those of our citizens who had the misfortune to reside in the vicinity of Prairie and Church streets. Some addlepated, half-witted, idiotic individual amused himself by meandering about in the above mentioned locality, grinding out of diseased accordeon the most unearthly, ear-splitting, discordant sounds, causing those who heard him to make use of language better fitted to the bar than the drawing room, volleys of ouths from lips that heretofore breathed naught but blessings, and volleys of old boots, blacking brushes and oyster cans greeted the would be-serenader. He is advised in all kindness to transfer the field of his operations to another part of the street, or to speak mildly, dispassionately, on his next appearance, accompanied by his infernal machine, he and his music-box will be ground to powder, by an enraged and suffering community.

MADAME DAVIS OUT. She is Taken from Jayl to Attend a Civil Suit.

Yesterday Madame Davis was taken out of the county jail and escorted to Justice Hughes' office by Sheriff Jennings, to answer to a summons from the Justice to appear before him in a case instituted by Thomas Lee, Esq., for the fees of a lawsuit he conducted for her at the last term of the circuit court. :

promised-about $200. Edwin Park, Esq., was employed by the defendant as her counsel, but his efefforts to gain the case were useless. Buckingham appeared for the plaintiff, an, as usual, made a good speech, in the course of which he spoke rath plain, and hinted that the defendant kept a lewd house, and that the "Grand Duke" was a frequenter thereof. This served to arouse the ire of both, and the Madame furiously grappled an inkstand, drew it back, and vowed she woule make 'Buck' prove she kept a -- house. Holmes stood up, blowed a good deal, and wanted to 'lich' the lawyer. Finding that remonstrance would do nothing toward cooling down the anger of the parties, the Justice assess: ed a fine of $5 and costs to the offenders. This had the desired effect, and Bucking ham was allowed to finish his speech with out interruption. At its conclusion the Justice rendered his decision, giving the complainant a judgment for $150.
